

The Other Side of the Mountain Gang

Those of you out of state most likely have heard that Denver has been inundated with lots of snow since Christmas. They are forecasting snow again for the seventh week. They predict it will be light flurries rather than the heavy snows we had at Christmas and New Years and the temperatures will be another cold snap. We did have 28 brave members present at our last meeting. It did warm up some that day, but not much thawing and side streets were snow packed with lots of ruts making driving difficult. Spike Boyle sent me a copy of an article in the Dec Air Force Times that he felt would be of interest to everybody. I have placed it on the reverse of this page.

HISTORICAL DATA NEEDED: General France called and asked if I could let the retirees know that the National Guard Bureau is looking for names of Guardsmen who became members of the Air National Guard in 1947 when the Army Air Force became the United States Air Force. This apparently ties in with the Air Force's search for names of anyone who was a part of the transition. If you have any names, pictures, or information relating to the transition please call Capt Robert Bell at 720 250-1050. We don't have specifics, but these individuals may be recognized as charter members during a future ceremony or program.

EXERCISE/TRIPS: Jan Love wants to let everybody know there is a retiree exercise group called Buckley Busters that meets every Tuesday and Thursday 9 A.M. to 10 A.M. at the Wellness Center on base. They have a lot of fun and prizes. Jan also wants to know if the members are interested in taking a particular bus tour or taking the bus up to Central City or Blackhawk. If you have an interest let her know at the Feb 6th meeting or give her a call at 303-693-7538.

BIRTHDAYS: Joe Ashby, Jan Axton, Harold Brewer, Ralph Evans, Cheryl Harnke, Dan Harnke, Chuck Hoffman, Bob Huffman, John Levan, Marie Linam, Onika McCash, Gerrie Pawley, Bill Peoples, Debbie Popovich, Leon Rittenhouse (92), Eva Shreeve, Jim Thigpen, Bob Zepp.

SICK CALL: Neysa Neary had lumpectomy surgery. She is feeling good and things are going well. Joan Pickens will be having surgery on Feb 5th. We wish her well. Sonja continues to have back problems. She saw a specialist and she has two cysts, a couple discs off center and loss of fluid in lower back and will have injections. The specialist feels this will alleviate the pain. Ernie Nold is home after his bout with pneumonia and has home therapy. He says hello to everybody and misses coming to the meetings. Bob Talbot is doing better and will come and is at home after spending 3 months in assisted living. He will have home therapy for a while. They hope to attend our next meeting.

"OSOMG HATS FOR HEROES" PROGRAM: For those of you who do not live in Colorado, could you please send Sonja the phone number of the Public Affairs office at the base where you shop. She and a yarn shop owner are trying to start our hats program in other states. A big thank you to the Aurora Knitters. Since mid Dec they have made over 100 hats for our program. On Jan 25 Sonja got a call from a woman in Scottsbluff NE letting us know she is knitting hats and passing the information to others in Scottsbluff. She worked at the Finance Center in the early 1980's and lived in Denver for many years. Our information was passed to her by one of our knitters in Aurora.

Is your beneficiary paperwork squared away? Double-check it

Listen up. As the end of the year approaches, it's a good time to take stock of your financial situation to see whether you're generally on track with your goals for saving, investing and getting out — or staying out — of debt.

While you're at it, it's a good idea to make sure your paperwork and designations on these accounts are in order.

Life insurance is the biggest concern for most people. Is the beneficiary designation up to date? When you were single, you might have designated your mother as the beneficiary. But if you are married now, with children, do you still want your insurance payout to go to your mother?

Military units generally help service members with these issues, but sometimes things fall through the cracks.

Everybody needs to think about these matters, including spouses who make decisions about their beneficiaries.

Beyond life insurance, you also should examine your checking, savings and other financial accounts. If you die, would your spouse have access to the money in your joint checking accounts to buy groceries and pay the bills?

Raymond Andreno, who lives near Fort Campbell, Ky., warns military families to ask their bank about how to establish this access. Andreno, a former bank executive, recently opened a joint account with his wife, a retired officer, and later noticed a discrepancy while reading the disclosures pamphlet. He was shocked to find that the bank had automatically signed them up with an account designated as "joint without right of survivorship."

If something happened to him or his wife, their checking account funds would be frozen until the estate was settled in probate.

In many cases, banks or credit unions will ask you about this designation when you set up the account. If you want your spouse — or another person — to have continued access to the money, you should establish the account as "joint with right of survivorship."

Find out what your designation is. It may require a phone call or a trip to the bank.

There are other reasons service members should be aware of these joint account designations, said Les Kotzer, a wills attorney who focuses on preventing and resolving inheritance battles.

It could present inheritance problems for you if your sibling has a joint account with a parent, for example. Chances are you're not living in the same town as your parents, but a sister or brother may be.

Let's say your widowed elderly father put your sister on a joint account because she lives close to him and he wants to make sure someone can pay his bills if he is incapacitated.

The problem, Kotzer said, is that "when Dad dies, the sister owns it. ... That joint account [with right of survivorship] overrides the will."

If your sibling has a joint bank account with your parent

Kotzer advises asking your parent about the designation. "Ask your father: Are you aware that if you die, it belongs to her?" he said.

This applies not just to bank accounts but to other assets as well, such as houses.

OSOMG NEWSLETTER FEBRUARY 2007

Joe Broom 2142 S. Harlan St, Denver, CO 80227 303-984-1072

The February meeting was very interesting. Kimberly Hoskins, a high school student, came out and did an outstanding presentation on "What it Means To Be An American" from the point of view of Jessica Lynch. General Edwards briefed on the 140th Wing upcoming activities and events, preparing for ORI's and inspections. General Clark talked to us about the National Guard Association's upcoming conference, Military Ball, encouraging retirees to remain members of the Association and life time membership. Lt. Col Barbara J. Wilkham talked about gathering information on history of those who were in the Guard during the transition from Army Air Force to the United States Air Force.

The Other Side of the Mountain Gang

STAYING CONNECTED: In a previous newsletter I mentioned I was asked what our group is about and what we do. My reply was staying connected and in touch with those with whom we served. Your COANG Historical Society and OSOMG Committee selected "Staying Connected" as a theme for the May 1st meeting at the Wings Over the Rockies Museum. This always brings out a large attendance and will be an opportunity to see the changes to COANG Museum Room. There will be a catered lunch. We're in the planning stages, so mark your calendars and more information will be in future newsletters.

MEETING PLACE: The AF High Frontier Dining Hall has been re-opened as the Newtch's Lounge. No food service is available at this time. Some asked about the possibility of our group meeting there. Sonja and I visited the facility and will report our findings at the March meeting.

HISTORICAL DATA NEEDED: The National Guard Bureau is looking for names of Guardsmen who became members of the Air National Guard in 1947 when the Army Air Force became the United States Air Force. Southeast Denver Rotary Club had a Veteran's Appreciation Breakfast and invited Sonja and I to talk about our group and hats program. There were several who were interested in helping with the hats program. Spring time is here and the grass is really green and growing. I had to get the lawn mower out to cut the grass and it's too soon for lawn mowing.

Email: broomhevioe@comcast.net

Baseball is in the air, and the Colorado Rockies season has started. I read about a husband who was glued to the TV. It looked like the pitcher would throw a no hitter. His wife, who thinks baseball is boring, was walking through the room asked why the crowd was so excited. "It's a perfect game," he answered and asked if she knew what that is. "Yeah, that's when the game is over," she replied.
